From the Army and Navy Chronicle. THE GOING DOWN OF THE HORNET.

A good ship rode at morning,
From out Tampico bay,
Her queenly bosom spurning
The billows in their play,
A gallant ship and goodly,
Well tricked in mast and sail,
To ride the wave, when rudely
It leaped to meet the gale.

In strength, oft tried, confiding, On boomed the girdled hull,
While high in ether riding,
Shrieked yengo, mew, and gull.
Each brave scream seemed a war-note,
Each wing a banner gay;
In such wise rode the Hornet
From our Tampies have

From out Tampico bay.

Mexitti*—he who dwelleth
Above the field of graves;
Tlaloc*—whose dome upswelleth
Among the dark sea waves;
Of all Spain's fierce assaulters, Ne'er truer heart saw weep, Its blood upon their altars, Than beat on that good ship. Yet when the mighty billow Sprang—lashed in foamy glee— Each thought how soon his pillow Long fathoms deep might be. And one there was, woe-laden, And wan, tho' not with fear; He loved a blue-eyed maiden, And now he thought of her.

Hath sent its thrilling wail Thro' cloud, and mist, and shadow, And aspects stern was pale. "The merry prattler playeth Upon his native sod;" So thinketh one and sayeth, "Now pity me, oh God!"

I dreamed of one assaulted!
From dead of night till morn,
His long maned charger vaulted
With bound of wrathful scorn.
Shafts flew—the helmless master
Held high his hurt steed's head,
While body or and feter While hotly on, and faster, Death's whistling arrows sped.

I saw the brave one's bleeding,
Aghast with fear and pain,
The stricken steed unheeding
His stricken rider's rein.
I heard the hellish rattle,
Crashed lance, and trumpet bray;
On swept the tide of battle,
But they—Oh, where were they?

The fearful strife was over,
The rent ship plunged from view,
The waters closed above her,
And all her clinging crew.
The storm was no more dreaded,
They were beyond it then—
They say their feare and met it They saw their fate, and met it

When gentle land winds scattered The wreck at wane of day, A vessel wrung, and shattered, Rode in Tampico bay. She brought the Hornet's story; And tears were offered up, For those who, young in glory, Drained Tlaloc's wrathful cup.

From Mrs. Hall's " Tales of Woman's Trials." rank) had been absent on business, and his wife, more port her head. The dying creature opened her eyes, threw open the casement windows, shaded by a rich times repeated, 'Not cursed, not cursed-my boy-my drapery of pink and silver, and stepped forth upon the child !' and expired." marble terrace that overlooked the lawn, the beams of the harvest moon shed a flood of light and glory upon her head; yet her step was somewhat feeble, and she threw her arm round one of the pillars of the colonnade to support her in a spot where she could hear the approaching tread of his horse's hoofs, long before they entered the avenue of fragrant lime leading to the castle. Suddenly a female sprang upon the terrace, and stood beside the lady so silently, that Marian, unaccustomed as she was to fear, would have called to her servants, had not the stranger, by an energetic movement, entreated her to forbear. She looked upon the pale, attenuated figure enveloped in a deep scarlet cloak; and as the hood, which had been drawn over the woman's face, fell back, Marian thought she recognised the God break hard fortune before every honest man's have been so long without seeing: can I do any thing for you, poor girl?' The woman fell at her feet, and, while she kept her cloak closely clasped around her, sobbed forth a petition, 'that she wouldn't turn agin her entirely, and use her worse than a dog.' She had, in truth, little reason to expect such treatment from the mistress of Castle Raymond, who, raising her from the carth would have led her into the room, she had so have been so long without seeing: can I do any thing earth, would have led her into the room she had so and Beaver Gloves, &c recently quitted, had not the girl refused to enter. recently quitted, had not the girl refused to enter.

"Sure I've made an oath never to cross his door! and don't ask me, lady, durlint, for I'm a poor unworthy sinner—God-stricken and dying, and willin and happy to die, if I was fit; though I am young, and the onpy to die, if I was fit ; though I am young, and the only child of my father—and yet, to my sorrow, I've heard the white-headed ould man pray that I'd never heard the white-headed ould man pray the white-headed ould man pray that I'd never headed ould man pray the white-headed ould man pray been born—and worse, lady, worse nor that, I saw him (and here her words came short and broken,) I saw him kneel down on his own hearth-stone, and curse me and mine, lady! me and mine! Oh! why indeed was I born—why indeed was I born! Yet I call the God with a complete Livery Stable on Fulton street, called the Fulton Stable, near the New-England Coffee House. Horses, chaises and carriages can be had at all times when called for. Careful attention paid to horses left for stabling, for a longer or shorter period. They will always endeavor to suit the wishes of their customers. Call and try. who sees into my very heart this minute to witness for customers. Call and try. me, that, lady, darlint, I meant you no wrong ; but he me, that, lady, darlint, I meant you no wrong; but he had the winning way with him, and if he could win you, no wonder he bewildered me.' 'Of whom speak you, Mary Deane?' inquired Marian, in a voice of agonising emotion, dreading she knew not what or whom; 'of whom speak you?' 'Of news bashed a late of the yengley of the yengley to he had as above at all Washington st, a large assortment of Fine Fancy Stationery, London Annuals, &c, fresh imported.

'Of your husband, lady; of the father of-my child.' As she answered, her head sank upon her bosom, and throwing open the cloak that had hitherto shrouded her, discovered a sleeping boy upon her bosom. 'Tis all a falsehood—a fraud got up to—to—drive me mad!' exclaimed Marian, 'a base lie! Woman! how dare you slander him?' 'Look at him!' replied Mary Days helding the Mary Days helding the CCOUNT BOOKS—Constantly for sale by JOHN marsh: 84 Washington st. Account Books of all the most approved style. The smile confirmed the tale, and taught the lady of that noble house that her most his base that her most his little hands in admiration of some of the rich jewels that glittered on her dress. The smile don, by the Virginia, at New York. The above are of superior quality, and the latest and most fashionable goods received house that her most bitter trial was indeed arrived. Sir Charles' gallantries she had borne with fortitude-they had grievously wounded her deep sense of religion and morality; they had, moreover, wounded her woman's pride, but they had never seared her heart; they had never entered, and lacerated, and destroyed! 'Telltell me one thing !' she demanded of the betrayed girl, who still cowered at her feet; 'this child was born before our marriage; have you been sinless since?"

A deep and bitter groan was the only answer she re-seived. It was enough. Marian would have paced the terrace, but she felt as if rooted to the spot whereon she stood. She was iron-bound-spell-bound to the very earth. The child, still in admiration of the brilliant jewels, crept towards her. Her first feeling was to spurn-to thrust it from her; in the madness of the moment her foot was lifted to the act, but she could notit was his chiid! The eye of the wretched mother had been fixed upon her infant's movements, and her sad heart beat more quickly when she saw that he was not repulsed. 'What would you with me?' inquired Marian, when she could find utterance. 'Speak, and quickly.' 'Lady, I am dying-dying of the same decline that took my mother away soon after I was born. See here !' She held forth her arms, white and fleshless ; they quivered in the moonbeams. 'I am gone entirely,' continued the unfortunate, 'and so I ought to be; for the beauty he talked about went, and HIS love went with it, and I've been almost starvin in a strange parish; and my father's curse, and your goodness, and all together hanging over me like a ban; and I couldn't die asy till I asked yer pardon, and asked—'The mother's eye, which, still bright, gleamed like a lamp within a sepulchre, rested on her child. The glorious creature to whom she spoke understood the appeal, and, immolating all common feeling, she stooped, and kissed the forehead of the unoffending infant; her silent offering ascended to the throne of the Almighty, a record of a virtuous woman's triumph. Mary Deane knelt, as if to pray, but she could not speak; she could only weep

At the girl's entreaty, Marian accompanies her to the aged parent she had deserted—the gamekeeper of

As they crossed the park, the tread of Colonel O'Donnell's horses came suddenly upon them; the two females stood behind a group of sapling oaks, as he and his servant passed; they both clung to the boughs of the young trees for sapport; but, as they rode onwards, Mary Deane stretched forward so as to catch al ook of his departing shadow, while his mile. his departing shadow, while his wife, who not an hour before had so anxiously waited his return, remained erect on the spot, more like a statue of carved marble than a thing of life, for many minutes after the sound had ceased. The old gamekeeper opened the door of his cottage himself to Marian's knock, and appeared almost terrified at seeing his mistress. His daughter had crouched behind her as she entered, and could neither stand nor speak.

'I am come, Deane,' said his mistress, 'to ak you to forgive your penitent girl. James Deane, I have forgiven her. I have taken her child into my house, and you must not refuse her, at such a time as this, her father's blessing.' The old white-headed man clasped his hands, and remained for some time silent : his wretched child crawled to his knees, and her long yellow hair entwined around his feet; she dared not look into her enther's face. 'Deane, Deane, I entreat you—I command you to forgive her!' reiterated the lady. The old man looked as if he could scarcely comprehend her words—'Father, father! oh, quickly, for I am death of the partial the partial have to his heavy and so he partial the

He raised her to his bosom, and as he parted the long hair that shadowed her face, her head fell upon his shoulder,—her eyes wandered,—her lips, white and livid, separated from over her teeth,-her fingers moved "Another year had passed; and again the mistress of Castle Raymond was seated alone in the same apartyou, darling Mary!"—when she again sank upon the ment in which we once saw her try on the token of her new contract. Colonel O'Donnell (for money achieves Marian, with a true feeling of humanity, knelt to supimpatiently than usual, awaited his return. Washington, Tuesday, Jan. 20. The greater part of the Senate's session, to-day, was coupled in the consideration of executive business, having spent two hours and a half with closed doors after with the feelings and passions which have hitherto governed the majority in the Senate. The nomination of Henry D. Gilpin, of Philadelphia, as Governor of Midugan, was rejected by a vote of year 22, nays 23 .-This was, of course, to be expected, after the vote rejecting Mr Sullivan the other day, against whom the same feeling prevailed. Thus have two of the most faithful public agents been a second time visited with the vengeance of the Senate, for an open, fearless discharge of their duty to the Government.

The nomination of Mr Taney was discussed at some length, but, I am told, without the malignity which ordinarily characterizes the speeches of the majority in the Senate upon political questions. Yet, I fear, nothing favorable to Mr T's confirmation is to be gathered from all this. The better opinion seems to be, that he, too, will receive a similar senatorial visitation.

Some unimportant nominations were confirmed, and the Senate adjourned at 4 o'clock.

I should have mentioned, that the early hour at which the doors were closed, prevented Col. Benton from dissecting Mr Tyler's report, as he had intended doing today, secundum artem, and without gloves. This may be expected to-morrow, if the thirst for consummating Mr Taney's disgrace! do not again prevent it.

In the House of Representatives, Mr C. P. White, from the Naval Committee, reported a bill authorising the construction of a Dry Dock, for the Naval service, and another for constructing three steam batteries .-They were both read twice and committed.

The civil appropriation bill, for the year 1835, was then taken up and considered in Committee of the Whole, Mr Speight in the chair. There was not the Whole, Mr Speight in the chair. There was not the same opposition to the bill which marked the bitterness thing pretty genuine to complain about, and he accord-which was continued till the House adjourned. of the wigs at the last session, and it passed through the committee with little trouble, and scarcely any

Some discussion took place upon the appropriation for the mission to England, and in the progress of it, Mr Polk, chairman of the Committee of Ways and other effort to have a minister sent to England, or the appropriation would not have been asked for.

Alcee Labrouche was unanimously re-elected Speaker of the House. On the 6th, Edward D. White was elected Governor of the State, having received 58 votes - the whole number except three blanks. Gen. Dawson had declined being considered a candidate.

It appears from the Message of Governor Roman, that the receipts into the State Treasury during the past year, amounted to $582,254-expenditures $500,867. The value of exports from Louisiana in 1834, amounted to the extraordinary sum of $35,819,185-which is almost double the value of exports from the whole United States in 1760. The exports in 1835, the Governor estimated at about $40,000,000, including 500,000 bales of cotton, 100,000 hhds of sugar, and 25,000 hhds of Egypt .- Extract from the letter of a well-informed American, now travelling in Egypt, dated September 1,

"The line of battle ship, the Delaware, with Com. Patterson and family on board, sailed from this place on the 10th ult. During their stay, they visited Cairo, one handred miles distant. The Viceroy was absent in Syria, during the greater part of the time they were here. The Commodore is now visiting the coast of The A.abs of Hedjaz on the Red Sea, generously presented by Mr Barry to the Charitable Asligence the arms of the Pasha were victorious."

The Democrats are all Infidels in the opinion of Mister Theophilus Parsons, Esquire, therefore he may be surprised to read the following paragraph which is copied from the New York Journal of Commerce :-

" It is with great pleasure we observe that a resolution has been submitted to the U. S. Senate by Mr Ben-which has heretofore cheered and supported her in her flour at that time, was about 32,000 bbls. Old flour Chaplains for the Army. At present we believe there is not a single Chaplain in the service !"

To-morrow is the day assigned by the Legislature for the choice of a U. S. Senator. The candidates are multiplying fast. The lobby members are very thick-the West will go for Mr Bates, strong. Should there be no choice upon the first ballot, there will be trouble.

For the Boston Morning Post. Mr Editor .- It appears to me that our modern "Whigs" have "missed a figure" in endeavoring to identify "infidelity" with democracy-or, as they are better pleased to say, "toryism"-for if I mistake not, it has in times past been their custom to class infidels with levellers and sans culottes-while, on the other hand, tories have claimed, and these same "Whigs" have allowed them to be, the sole lovers of order-the true conservatives.

CONGRESS.

In the Senate, on Thursday, 22d Jan. Mr Webster, from the Committee on Finance, to which the same had been referred, reported the bill from the House of Representatives, making appropriations for the Indian Department for the year 1835. Also, the bill making appropriations for the support of the army for the year 835. Mr Webster moved that the Senate proceed to the consideration of these bills, which was agreed to, Hudson and the first-named was then considered as in Committee of the Whole. An amendment was suggested by Mr Wright, when the bill was laid on the tablo.

The bill making appropriations for the support of the army for the year 1835 was read a second time, as in Committee of the Whole, and ordered to be engrossed for a third reading.

The following resolution submitted yesterday by Mr Hendricks, was tahen up, considered, and agreed to: Resolved, That the Committee on the Judiciary be instructed to inquire into the expediency of fixing by law, the time of the commencement and close of every succeeding session of Congress. The following bills from the House of Representatives, were read a third time and passed :

The joint resolution requiring the statues executed by Persico to be placed in the niches in front of the Capitol, for which they were designed; A bill making appropriations for the current expenses of the Indian De- York partment, for the year 1835.

The bill making compensation for French spoliations prior to 1800, came up as the special order, and on motion of Mr Robbins, it was postponed and made the pecial order for Monday next.

Mr Clay rose and said, that in consequence of the indisposition of several Senators who were absent, he would not make the motion which he intended yesterday, to make to day, to go into the consideration of Executive business.

In the House, after some unimportant business, the House took up the bill reported from the Committee of the Whole, making appropriations for the civil and diplomatic evpenses of Government for the year 1835. Several amendments of the Committee of the Whole were agreed to without amendment, but before the bill was finally acted upon the House adjourned.

Suicide.—Capt. John Hudry of New Orleans, a bill for whose relief reached a second reading on Wednesday, committed suicide in Washington City on Wednesday morning. Captain Hudry was one of the defenders of New Orleans, and the claims were for sums advanced for the equipment of a company commanded by him. He was then in affluent circumstances-subsequent poverty and the delay of his claims produced the despair which occasioned the rash act. On receipt of the news in the Senate the bill, amended so as to read "pay to the heirs and legal representatives of Captain Hudry," was passed to a third reading.

They are cut scientifically; the materials and manner of making are quite different from those in common use, and they may be covered many times, and retain exactly the same shape as when first made. W. H. R. re quests permission to enumerate the usual faults in the common Stocks, viz: 1st, the very inferior materials used; 2d, their sitting away from the chin and exposing the neck, when disagreeably close at the bottom; 3d, the edge at the top being uncomfortably tight, as to cause a distortion of the features by moving the head; 4th, that of their bulging out at the sides, by moving the head a little downwards, which has a most distasteful appearance. By W. H. Rogers' deservedly admired and extensively patronized invention, all these faults are completely tensively patronized invention, all these faults are completely obviated. AMERICAN LADIES' MAGAZINE.

PROSPECTUS.—Vol. VIII.—In reviewing the success of our work for the seven years it has been issued, we have certainly much reason to be gratified. Never till the present time have we had cause to complain But the depression of business last winter, just at the season when we obtain most of our subscribers, had a very injurious effect—we lost about five hondred names.

The new year brings the responsibility of beginning a new volume. The Editor has become part proprietor of the work, and it is indispensable that a large addition to our subscription list be obtained, to enable us to sustain the Magazine, and make such improvements as the importance of the objects we advocate demand.

every lady and every gentieman, who take an interest in the cause of female education, endeavor to send us one subscriber? We ask these favors confidently. Ours is the only periodical in the republic, devoted solely to the mental, moral, and religious improvement of Woman. We have the assistance of many of our best female writers. We offer a field where female genius may find scope—where the female mind may en in its appropriate work, that of benefitting the Female

We feel that the continuance of our publication is of importance—that it will do good. Its influence is directed to promote social refinement, domestic virtues, and humble piety.—And unless intelligent ladies devote themselves to the work of education, and implant deeply the principles of our holy religion in the heart of the young, neither Christianity nor Free dom can be maintained in our country. The character of our Magazine is, however, well known. We need only add that we have made arrangements by which we hope its interest and usefulness will be increased. We only wish for an increase of subscribers-this will animate our exertions as well as re-

DATENT FEATHER DRESSING.— The subscriber having the right of Reynolds's Patent Machine for Dressing old and new Feathers, for the State of Massachusetts, and having put it in operation, he is ready to receive orders from any who may favor him with a call.

The operation of the machine produces the following effect: new feathers are dried of their excessive moisture and purified of their disagreeable and unpleasant odor. The same results are effected on old feathers, and besides they are restored to their original liveliness, even after they have been long compressed together and rendered exceedingly uncomfortable for repose. They are also thoroughly cleaned of all the dirt, perspiration, and pestiferous gasses, which feathers long used must have imbibed, which cannot be otherwise than injurious to health, and which has never failed to excite the wonder of those who have witnessed the result.

As this is the first machine of the kind ever put in operation in the United States, which has been highly recommended by physicials.

As this is the first machine of the kind ever put in operation in the United States, which has been highly recommended by physicians and others in all places where it has been established, the subscriber feels confident it will receive immediate attention from all lovers of health, comfort and economy. The operation of dressing the feathers is simple and may be witnessed by any who are dispased to call at the shop, No 102 Cambridge street, where the machine is in successful operation.

Feathers to be dressed can be sent and returned again in the tick, without the owner's being to the inconvenience of ex-changing them. Those who wish can have their beds dressed and returned again the same day they are delivered, provided the work be engaged a short time previous.

N. B.—The operation of the machine does not break or oth erwise injure in the least the feathers, nor does it effect any waste of them—nothing being removed except dirt, dampness, &c. If the work is not done as recommended, there will be Any one wishing to purchase the right of the machine, either for the city or country, will please to call. All feather dealers would find it much to their advantage to have one of said machines. All orders punctually attended to.

who are unacquainted with it.

Extract of a letter received from a gentleman in Boston, who had suffered severely from indigestion for three years. 'During this time, I suffered very much from mental depression, constant pain in the head and breast, and side, sharp shooting pains stant pain in the head and breast, and side, sharp shooting pains over almost the whole system—the food that I ate seemed to pass into my lungs and there remain, giving me great pain at tended with a strong degree of heat. At times, I suffered so much from the pain of indigestion as to be confined to the bed for two or three days. During one of these most severe attacks, I was induced by the advice of a friend to try your Vegetable Medicine. In the course of a few weeks I found myself much better, and by the time I had taken two bottles, considered myself wholly free from the complaint. I continue, on the least feeling of any thing like indigestion or pressure on the stomach, to take about a table spoonful of it, which, in the least feeling of any thing like indigestion or pressure on the stomach, to take about a table spoonful of it, which, in the course of a few hours, completely restores me. It has had with me a very wonderful effect, in strengthening the stomach and invigorating the whole system, and judging by my own case, I consider it in all diseases connected with the digestive organs, to be a very valuable medicine.

TO PROVIDENCE.
UNRIVALLED EXPEDITION!

By Rail Road Cars and U. S. Mail Coaches.

THE TREMONT LINE, in conjunction with the Rail Road, is now prepared to convey to and from Providence, all passengers who may wish to avail themselves of this safe, elegant and expeditious conveyance.

The superiority of this route over all others, will appear obvious on a moment's reflection. The fact that passengers who leave Boston at 7 A. M. arrive in Providence as soon as those who leave two hours earlier—at 5, and stop to breakfast on the road—seems necessary only to be known, to induce all passengers to secure seats in the Rail Road Line.

Cars leave depot, foot of the Common, every day at 7 A. M. to meet the boats. On Sunday, at 9. Also, at 11 A. M. to Canton, thence by coaches, via Foxboro' the shortest and most level route, to Providence.

Returning, leave Providence on the arrival of the boats, and arrive in Poston in 4 hours.

U. S. Mail Coach leaves as usual at 5 A. M. For seats, be particular and apply at City Tavern, Brattle street, and Washington Coffee House, 158 Washington st.

secure the patronage of the public, should be extremely cautious not to sell an article for the Hair which tends to counter act rather than assist nature,

The virtues of Bear's Oil have been too long tested to need any eulogium; and at this time no one can doubt of its being the very best article for strengthening and promoting the growth of the Hair. An honest prejudice against the use of Bear's Oil has long existed, arising from two causes—the improper method of purifying it, and the imposition upon the public of a spurious article. That this prejudice may be wholly removed, this article now offered is warranted the pure Oil, rendered more pleasant by the addition of a little perfume—and rendered more pleasant by the addition of a little perfu

This certifies that my daughter has for a long time been troubled with a bad cough, pains in her side, under the shoulder blade, and in her head; she was unable to eat any kind of food without it producing severe pains in her stomach; her sleep was very restless, attended with slight sweats, and in fact she had all the most aggravated symptoms of consumption.—Frequent journeys into the country had been tried without producing any effect. She was at last recommended to try the American Pulmonary Balsam, by her physician, as it had been known to afford great relief in such cases, and to our great surprise she was in a short time totally relieved from all the above symptoms. I can therefore cordially recommend to every one afflicted with any affection of the lungs or stomach, to try this medicine, as in my opinion, it will much more than realize their expectations.
